

NCSBN
Leading Regulatory Excellence

We're Here for Every Moment Video Transcript

It's happening. At this very moment, millions of people are putting their trust in nursing in hospitals, in homes and online.

At NCSBN, we protect the public and the trust in nursing through innovative regulatory solutions, insights and expertise. Solutions like our NCLEX. The world's premier licensure exam that better measures clinical judgment so nurses are better prepared for day one. And our Nursys system, the only national nurse licensure database for verifying and monitoring nurse licenses. Powered by the NCSBN ID, a unique number assigned to every licensed nurse to help identify them across systems and protect their personal information.

Insights like our groundbreaking research can be found in NCSBN's Journal of Nursing Regulation. Recognized as the number two Nursing journal. Our National Nursing Workforce Study is the largest and most comprehensive research study of the nursing workforce. It's our data that leads to better policy.

Together, we are the collective voice of nursing regulation, harnessing the expertise of our members. And speaking on matters of importance like increasing access to care and strengthening the nursing workforce through the Nurse Licensure Compact and APRN compact.

It's all part of leading regulatory excellence. Because the moment between a nurse and a patient should be one of trust and comfort. At NCSBN, we are here for every moment.
